NO ODDS ASKED BY MACHINIST, 72
Has Endurance of Men Years Younger Since Taking Tanlac, Declares Moomau.
"The Tanlac treatment has given me robust health and proved that just because a man is seventy-two years old is no sign he's got to be sick. Yes, that's my age, but when it comes to endurance I don't have to ask odds of men twenty or thirty years younger. This remarkable statement was made recently by Walter S. Moomau, well-known machinist of 306 W. Nevada St., Urbana, Ill., while on a visit to Milwaukee.
"After a bad case of flu indisposition got a hold on me, I was nervous, restless, depressed, could scarcely eat or sleep and was run-down to the last notch. Cramps, heartburn and a choking feeling on account of gas pressure were some of my torments, and constipation and pains in my back troubled me too.
"My luck changed when I started taking Tanlac. Today I feel as fine as I ever did in my life without an ailment in the world. That I recommend Tanlac goes without saying."
Tanlac is for sale at all good druggists. Over 37 million bottles sold. Advertisement.

MARION RESIGNS PASTORSHIP HERE AFTER LONG STRIFE
put my best into this church at all times and the work of the past two years will speak as to this. Every department is stronger and with your minds on the work instead of the pastor there can only be success.
I want to thank the entire congregation and friends of the church for your support of righteousness, and the Great Book, the Bible, for the way in which you have helped to bring about this great victory which the church can enjoy for years to come.
Church Strife Bitter.
The Rev. Mr. Marion was retained at the end of his second year in September by a majority vote of the membership, despite the opposition of a minority group who later organized a Second church and have been holding services regularly in the homes of members. It was stated by an officer of the First church, that while the members comprising the new organization have not notified the church clerk of their withdrawal, the elders have taken from the membership roll the names of a number deemed responsible for the split.

Miss Janesville Says—
I was indeed happy to learn Saturday that the young man who thought his old schoolmate robbed him of $45 found out later he was greatly mistaken. In justice to the girl whom he unjustly suspected of having taken the money from him while giving her a ride home, he wants the word broadcast that he found the money under the seat of his car the day after the supposed theft. At the time he made the first report he was advised by the police to make a thorough search of his car, but he said he had done that and had found nothing.
If anybody had told me a year ago that I would have seen what I did see and hear at the high school Thursday night, when 100 school children gave a band concert, I would have told him something not complimentary. But then, next year at this time still further progress which we wouldn't believe possible now may have taken place—what know?

Quick Quaker Oats cooks in 3 to 5 minutes as well as it cooks in an hour. No other oat flakes cook nearly so quickly.

Yet the flavor is identical with regular Quaker Oats. That super-flavor which comes from flaking the finest grains only.

In Quick Quaker the oats are cut before flaking. They are rolled very thin and partly cooked. So the flakes are smaller and thinner—that is all. And those small, thin flakes cook quickly.

Well Dressed American Women

American women have the reputation of being the best dressed women in the world.

This is as true of the wife whose husband earns but a very moderate income as it is of the wealthy woman.

American women recognize that a dress need not be expensive to be attractive. A dress that costs but a few dollars can be as stylish in cut and as becoming as expensive models. Our women have the "knack" of selecting what is becoming.

Our New York buyers have created an enviable reputation among women for the charm and always stylish lines which make our displays so delightful.

POLI NEGRI in "BELLA DONNA."

20 ARE CONFIRMED BY BISHOP WEBB

Milwaukee Diocese Head Given Reception on 17th Visit Here.

The Rt. Rev. W. W. Webb, bishop of the Milwaukee diocese, confirmed a class of 20 persons at Trinity Episcopal church, Sunday morning, in his 17th annual visit, here for the purpose of administering confirmation.

In the class were: Mrs. Audrey H. Pomeroy, Mrs. Sidney C. Eastwick, Misses Anna F. E. Gregory, Agnes Stone, Bernice A. Hahn, Eleanor D. Tyro, Catherine F. Pierce, Florence E. Roberts, Gladys G. Roberts, Donald J. Confield, John G. Whitfield, Donald R. Dady, Frederick H. Faust, Stanley Slightman, Thomas J. Stone, William H. Smith, and Alvin J. Gail, all of Janesville, and all confirmed by Bishop Webb.

Bishop Webb preached the sermon at the holy communion service which followed the confirmation, and admonished those who had renewed their vows of baptism to make their religion real and lasting. He spoke of the resurrection and doubt of it which some theologians have, and declared that the church, the holy eucharist, were monuments of the resurrection.

The bishop spoke of attending the funeral of Bishop Tuttle whom he knew very intimately, at St. Louis, Mo., last week. He said that he was not sorrowful for having known him in the resurrection, they saw the end of a grand life and joy, hope and happiness in the world to come.

"We want to be able to feel something in our lives which will make us better men and women," said Bishop Webb.

Seventy-five members of the church, who were members of classes confirmed by Bishop Webb in his 17 visits here, joined with him in the communion service.

A reception was held, Saturday night, at the parish house with musical numbers and readings forming the program. Bishop Webb gave a short talk. Sunday night he spoke at the Beloit Episcopal church and returned to Janesville, leaving Monday morning for Chicago.

It was learned that Bishop Webb will be unable to attend the 75th celebration of Trinity church here this summer as he will leave in June for Europe to attend a large church gathering.

UNCLE SAM READY TO 'SIC' NAVY ON LIQUOR RUNNERS

(Continued From Page 1) effect of this policy has been to give Secretary Hughes an opportunity to negotiate with the British government so that their cooperation in preventing their own vessels from conspiring to violate American laws might be secured.

The British government has been indifferent to a conspiracy to violate American laws there might be a renewed interest in the United States.

Myers Is Packed for "Adam's Rib,"

Spectacular Play

Audiences which filled the Myers theater time after time Sunday, and which kept a crowd packed to the sidewalks for two or three hours continuously, saw the opening performance of "Adam's Rib." The majority declared it to be elaborate, spectacular, gorgeous, and at the same time having a lot to interest and amuse.

While a little far-fetched in places, the picture as a whole is true to life and brings out problems of interest to everybody, even though they are not met with in the life of the ordinary man and woman. Not once, except in the flash-back to the prehistoric times, does the picture leave its luxurious settings.

Beautiful sets and gowns furnish a rich background for the action of the women, who found love complicated after 19 years. "At 40," she says, "a woman's desire for romance is stronger than at 20."

This is given as advice to her daughter who attempts, and finally wins, to save her mother from running off with the king of Morocco. The picture is a big business success.

The picture will remain through Thursday.

Marriage Licenses—Applying for marriage licenses at the county clerk's office were Garnet Garfield Geach and Bertha I. Alderson, Beloit; Ray Walner, Spring Valley; Rehid Lena Reider, Whitewater; and John Pollock, Rockford, and Bernice M. Ponkanski, Beloit.

Prize Checks "Running" — According to the prohibition enforcement office here, rum runners have declined materially in the last few months, chiefly because of the disputes among the prize runners themselves, the growth of piracy among the adventurous skipper of rum running vessels and the huge cost of arranging for the shipment ashore of liquor from the larger to the smaller vessels. The wireless is the principal medium of communication but the government is exercising not only a close watch on the radio apparatus of the rum runners but is keeping an eye on the small craft.

Navy to Chase Matters — It is admitted, however, that the rum runners have not much to do with it in evading the government patrol, especially in Florida waters, but the use of the navy is expected to change the aspect materially. All the sub-marine chasers and light craft which have been idle since the war may be manned by the navy and sent on the enforcement patrol. The administration has been pushed by the "drys" to take this drastic step and the drift toward complete and effective use of the sea forces of the government to uphold the Volstead act.

Miller, County's Speed Cop, Quits

Merton G. Miller, county highway patrolman for the past seven months, has resigned to drive the city street department's big flusher. He turned his motor car over to County Highway Commissioner Charles E. Moore, Saturday, and began work on the city job, Monday. He retains his appointment as constable of the second ward, for which he was deputized in order to become county speed officer. John McCue, who has been running the city flusher the past week, will return to his old post running the steam roller.

Judgment for Catalogs — Judgment for $217.10 and costs was granted by Judge H. L. Maxwell in favor of J. James and R. Green, Evansville, against P. D. Green, Evansville, for catalogs and other printing. Hall, Barr & Hall, Madison, represented the plaintiff.

WETS ORGANIZED FOR BITTER FIGHT

Mental Neutrality of Drys Greatest Danger Says Wortendyke.

According to James H. Woertendyke, flying squadron speaker heard at the First Baptist church, Saturday night, legislation providing for the enforcement of the Volstead law and the federal prohibition amendment has superseded state prohibition laws in all but ten of the states that were dry prior to the adoption of the federal measure.

"If the wet forces succeed in their avowed aim and get control of congress so that a bill permitting the manufacture and sale of beers and light wines should be passed," said Mr. Woertendyke, "it would mean the return of the saloon in all but ten states, whereas 35 states were dry prior to the adoption of the federal measure."

The wet forces are well organized, he said. Thirty-three wet organizations are working together in the National Association Opposed to Prohibition. They now have well organized committees in 23 states and unlimited funds to push their cause throughout the nation.

"This fight is just begun and the mental neutrality of the dry advocates is our greatest danger," the speaker declared.

Miss Brown Urges Fight — In her address at the First Christian church, Sunday morning, Rev. Norman C. Brown, flying squadron speaker, declared that no warfare is ever concluded until one side or the other has surrendered.

"We certainly know the dries haven't surrendered," said Miss Brown, "and the campaign for modification and nullification now being waged by wet forces, does not mean to put the dries to the sword. On the other hand they have openly announced their aim to seek control of the 1924 political party conventions, and if they cannot obtain open platform declarations in favor of the return of the liquor traffic, they hope to keep the parties silent. The flying squadron is covering the nation in a campaign designed to awaken the dry people to the situation that confronts us. We shall urge the election of dry delegates to the national party conventions and bring to the platform committees of those conventions the plea of millions of voters in behalf of dry plank."

Miss Brown spoke in the afternoon at the First Baptist church here, and in the Footville Christian church at night.

Squadron President Talks — Denouncing the foundation of the American government are threatened if the wets succeed in reviving the liquor traffic, Oliver W. Stewart, Chicago, president of the Flying Squadron, said Sunday night that the enemies of prohibition will seek to control the 1924 presidential conventions.

He was loudly applauded when he said: "Our defense will be to increase our (the Flying Squadron) attack until the conventions meet in 1924, compelling the wets to decide whether they can control the nation of the nation. I will go before both conventions and fight any plank to restore the liquor traffic."

One of the of the Milwaukee equipment concerns whose product is in the new high school, was at the ordinary man and woman. Not once, except in the flash-back to the prehistoric times, does the picture leave its luxurious settings.

Taxation and Economy

The question of taxation is uppermost in the minds of Wisconsin citizens and the largest question before the legislature is that of taxation. We can arrive at but one conclusion in the examination of the taxation bills presented by Mr. Dahl, Mr. Severson and the governor: there will be no reduction in taxes and no lowering of costs of state government. Pre-election promises are worthless in that respect. Judge Thomas Lyons, of the tax commission, is free to say that the need of new kinds of taxation is to raise additional revenue. Boards and commissions cost the state a million and a half more now than heretofore. In ten years cost of government has risen from five million to over twenty million dollars a year. The tax bills are not for the distribution of taxes but to gain more revenue. Dahl was frank enough to admit this in presentation of his bill. The governor is a bit careful on this line and thinks his bill will redistribute revenue without raising more. Judge Lyons says we must have more money because the price level has gone up so much.

There has been no committee named by either house of the legislature to examine the state government and report where cuts could be made in commissions, boards, salaries, number of inspectors and field agents, which have heretofore formed a political machine and so continues. The governor's bill will be reported out this week probably without recommendation and the houses will fight out the tax question on the floor. There will be so many amendments offered that no bill will be recognized when it is finally put up for passage if the threats of the members are carried out. No matter what bill is acted on finally the income taxes will be heavily increased if any bill passes and the cities and towns will have all the temptation to increase the local tax rate with the removal of the mill tax for state purposes.

One would say that the legislature has the opportunity for constructive legislation in doing two things:

- 1st—Appoint a joint committee to formulate a tax system for the state based on equity and justice.
- 2nd—Appointment of a committee to examine the state government expenditure thoroughly and report on possible economies and a reorganization that will give the best administration for the least money, by consolidation, less inspection and fewer interlocking and overspreading boards and commissions.

One plan must relate to the other closely since we levy taxes under number one in order to care for number two.

Over the radio the Kansas City Star broadcasted the story of the commissioner-manager plan of city government. Janesville did not have to learn about it in that way.

The Veto Is Working.

The veto arm of Governor Blaine is in good shape. With the refusal of the governor to sign the bill giving the tax commission $17,000 for extra expenses, he has taken a step in the line of economy which to say the least is as welcome as it was unexpected. A few thousand dollars these days is such a mere bagatelle in the state expenditures, that the saving of any sum comes as a pleasing shock. Then too the governor has registered his disapproval of the bill making it a misdemeanor for school students to join fraternities. It would be gratifying if the governor continued to act likewise on other legislation as on this measure which he terms as "useless." That is exactly what we have been saying all the time about most of the legislation—that it is useless. But it really goes farther; it is paternalistic to a nauseating and offensive degree. The human being ought to be permitted to exercise a little latitude in his manner of living. Schools and colleges ought to be able to regulate fraternities and they probably will. But just because some legislator's son was unable to join the Multum in Parvo, Elephantias Capitalis, or E Pluribus Unum society, was no reason why the statute books should be encumbered with a "useless" law to prevent it.

Mr. Blaine would not appear in behalf of his own tax bill. He must think that 44 pages is enough for any committee to digest without adding an appendix or a glossary.

When Attorney General Morgan asked for an appropriation in order to carry on prosecutions of trusts and combinations for price-fixing in the state he was looked upon as an intruder in the camp of the progressives. Trusts were a good thing to talk about and collect votes on so long as they were only properly damned, but action had never been contemplated, it would seem. Now that Mr. Morgan is out of the office of attorney general and his successor is in perfect harmony with the progressive idea of lots of noise and little action, and his program of investigation and suits against combinations is to be abandoned. Then too if all the work started by Morgan's office should be carried on to a conclusion, there would be no issue. We are therefore to have enough of the suits finished to "carry on" and no more new investigations. All of which is illuminating as a Christmas candle in a midsummer storm.

OUR ENTIRE POPULATION

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington—The old gray mare, "she ain't what she used to be," but nevertheless she and her tribe remain numerous in the United States and are an asset of great value which will not be displaced for some years to come.

In 1900 the automobile was no longer an experiment. Its utility had been definitely proven. In the year there were 13,500,000 horses in the country. By 1910 great strides had been made in the automobile industry and the automotive product was in use both for passengers and for trucking and delivery of all kinds. Nevertheless, the number of horses in the country had increased to 19,800,000. The decade from 1910 to 1920 was a motor epoch. The automobile and the motorcycle increased phenomenally in use. There were scarcely a million cars in use in 1910 while in 1920 there were 10,000,000. The decade from 1910 to 1920 between eight and nine million automobiles of all sorts were registered. Yet in this decade the number of horses continued to increase until in 1920 there were 20,785,000. This decade was the high point and the faithful equine has been on the decline since. Probably no country in the world ever will have as many horses as the United States had in 1918. The peak was reached then when there were 21,555,000 horses.

By 1921 the horse population had decreased to 20,183,000. In 1922 it had declined further to 19,058,000 and on January 1, 1923 there were but 18,553,000 horses in the country. Not since 1905 has the equine population been down to so low a figure as it is this year and the indications are that it will continue to decline steadily from now on.

But the horses are worth a good deal of money. The horse population this year is valued at $1,314,956,000 compared with $1,344,136,000 last year, a decrease of $29,183,000. Prices change but little for approximately the same number of horses were valued at $1,516,000 in 1906.

The pleasure car has supplanted the horse-drawn carriage more rapidly than the truck has supplanted the draft animals. This is indicated by the fact that the mule population has held up better in proportion than the horses. The mule seldom has been used for anything except farm work and heavy hauling.

On January 1, 1923 there were more mules in the United States than at any previous time in the history of the country. The mule population of 1923 was 5,500,000 animals valued at $472,735,000 compared with 5,467,000 mules valued at $471,678,000 the previous year. Back in 1909 there were only about 3,000,000 mules in the country. By 1910 they had increased to 4,200,000 and by 1920 to 5,041,000.

It is possible that the war gave the lowly mule a new lease on life. The army mule is traditional. The old-fashioned soldier was brought up on the theory that a war could not be fought without mules and when the United States entered the war the mule was a mainstay in the mule-breeding industry. There were only about four and a half million of the long-eared creatures in 1916, just before the war. Since then the number has increased over half a million. The fact that this year there are more mules than last year would seem to indicate that the country maintains a demand for them, war or no war.

This seems to be proved by the fact that the mule family does not reproduce directly. The mule is a hybrid produced by the interbreeding of the ass and the horse. The ass is a smaller creature and the advantage of this interbreeding is that a creature is produced which unites the sagacity and tractability of the horse and the strength and dragged perseverance of the donkey. This means that the mule population never would increase naturally. The interbreeding which increases the number of mules therefore must result from a market demand.

It seems certain that the horse will never be entirely replaced for hauling, especially for comparatively light work. The mule, however, will live on. The cost of hauling by motor truck and horses have developed the fact the short haul in cities frequently is more economically made by horse drawn vehicles.

Take a milk wagon, for instance. It must stop several times in every city block. The constant gear-shifting and use of brakes in a motor vehicle would multiply the wear and greatly increase both the fuel cost and the depreciation. Also, the automobile engine lacks the intelligence which the horse possesses. The horse on a milk wagon route knows his master's customers as well as the master and, without direction, will move from house to house stopping and starting at the proper times and places. Thus the time which the slower pace of the horse loses, is made up by his intelligence in starting and stopping on his own initiative. The same is true in many other varieties of delivery. The horse responds to the voice, but not the motor.

The largest trucking concern in New York City employs 3,500 horses and 1,500 horse drawn vehicles. It employs 300 motor trucks.

Production of carriages and wagons in the United States declined 55 per cent in the decade from 1909 to 1919. There were 1,475,000 carriages and wagons manufactured in 1909 and only 672,000 in 1919. What might be called the geography of the horse makes an interesting study. For instance five southern states seem to stick to the use of the horse, partially, no doubt through a native fondness for the animal and, partially, because of a lack of motor highways. Georgia, Kentucky, North Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia are the states which seem to cling most tenaciously to the horse. In 1909 these five states produced only 11 per cent of the total output of carriages and wagons; in 1919 they produced 44 per cent of the total. This change in figures does not represent an increased use in these states. The use has remained about the same, but the other states have greatly decreased their production and consumption of these vehicles, thereby leaving the states which retain the old vehicles higher in percentage.

In 1900 there was produced in the United States a total of 843,000 carriages and buggies. In 1910 these figures had sunk to 244,000. These are the figures which show the abandonment of the use of the horse. The decline in wagons has not been so marked showing that as a beast of burden, the horse is being more generally retained. Wagon production in 1909 amounted to 629,000 and in 1919 it amounted to 426,000.

The decline of the old-fashioned cab, hack and hansom is revealed in figures which show that in 1909 there were 2,347 such conveyances built while in 1919 only 277 were constructed. (The motor taxicab, therefore, has made perhaps the heaviest proportionate inroads of all.

women for employment. There has been too much greed dominating action and too little regard for human rights. We are in abnormal condition now, a swing of the pendulum will make an army of unemployed, and that is to be considered.

The voice of the Daughters of the American Revolution who are now holding the national convention in Washington, rings clear in its appeal for true patriotism and against the parlor pacifism which disguises the guerrilla warfare against anything and everything American.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

A BOY'S HOPE FOR THE FUTURE
I'd like to hunt for buffalo an' ride the western slope.
I'd like to be a cowboy an' make circles with a rope.
I'd like to be a trapper an' sit 'round a fire at night.
An' hear the wolves an' catamounts a-growin' at the light.
But buffalo an' catamounts I guess I'll never see.
Cuz Pa says that he hopes to make a lawyer out of me.

I'd like to be an acrobat, performing in the air,
Pretending I was going to fall to give the folks a scare;
I'd like to balance on a pole an' dangle from my feet.
An' frighten all the little boys an' girls who sat beneath.
But Uncle John, he says he hopes for higher things than that.
An' I should have to run away to be an acrobat.

I'd like to be a circus clown and run around the ring.
An' wear a funny suit of clothes, an' laugh at everything.
I'd like to paint my face all white an' have a lot of fun.
But Ma says that she must be proud to say that I'm her son.
She wants to hold her head up high, as high as it can be.
An' she is hoping she can make a preacher out of me.

GUNS.
There was a little lady,
And she had a little gun,
And she went down to his office,
And she said: "Come outside, hon;
I've a little present for you."
That I want no one to see.
And she shot him in the gizzard,
With the little gun, did she.

Oh! she faced a little jury,
And she shed some salty tears,
And they said: "It's a woman,
We must humor these 'girls'."
And she walked: "I didn't mean to do the shooting that I done."
But that does not explain just why she had the little gun.

No one plans to shoot these bullets.
No one has this thing in view.
That is why they buy revolvers.
That are shiny and are new,
All the while they are accidental,
So the testimony runs.
But the ladies would shoot no one
If they didn't carry guns.

Who's Who Today

MRS. ALFRED LYTLETON.

Although Mrs. Alfred Lytleton has been much in the public prints of late because of the revelation "Who's Who" is a spiritualist medium whose manager predicted war and caused other sensations, she is not known only for her researches in that science.

She has long been interested in British politics and once worked for the election of her husband, the late Hon. Alfred Lytleton to parliament.

She is known as a dramatist and has written among other offerings, "The Means of Barrenness," and "Wagon and Wood." Mr. Patrick Campbell appeared in these.

She has been a prominent figure in the society for psychical research for many years. She never had tried "script" until shortly after her husband's death. That occurred in 1923. After receiving what she believed to be impressions from him she interested British psychic circles with messages that foretold the world war.

She is very reticent about her interesting adventures in spiritualism, regarding them strictly as scientific studies and refusing to discuss them publicly.

LOOKING BACKWARD

FORTY YEARS AGO
April 23, 1883. The member of our two horse companies are looking for horses each cart. They have had horses all winter and do not wish the idea of going back to the old way of propelling the wagons by man-power. Jeremiah D. Day, an old resident, died at the age of 77 at his home on Bluff street last night.

THIRTY YEARS AGO
April 23, 1893.—Bold burglars looted the post-office at Milton last night and got away with cash, stamps, jewelry and other articles worth $10. W. D. Duke and sons are proprietors of a new brick yard here. Machinery for which is now on its way.—Robert Mantell appears in "The Face in the Moonlight" at the Myers next week.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

TEN YEARS AGO

Personal Health Service

BEWARE OF DIDDICATION

Judging by the anxiety a great many amateur mothers express in letters to me about the normal events of infancy I fear too many of them have been misled by the advice of the diddication. Even a trained nurse is likely to arrive at wrong conclusions when she goes in for diddication. For that matter the diddication, Dr. Holt himself, in his little manual, which many a distracted parent peruses when overtaken with a squall, seems unwarrantably suspicious of such trifling items as fat curds, strings of mucus, "colic" and greenish color in the stool.

I have often urged upon parents the wisdom of tossing the clinical thermometer into the ash can, and never minding what the temperature may be. Let me now remind young mothers, and the neighbors, and any contrived nurses who may so far forget their training as to indulge in diagnostic and therapeutic favors for unsophisticated people, that the stools of the healthy breast-fed baby often contain some fat curds, strings of fat mucus, "colic" and greenish color, or have a green color, or may be more frequent than usual, and that such things are insignificant and certainly should never occasion any change of food.

A young mother wrote me the other day, saying her doctor told her she should give her baby a few spoonfuls of orange juice each day while condensed milk was being used as a substitute food, because the condensed milk was poor in vitamins, as well as being deficient in iron. The first "trained nurse" told her not to give the orange juice, as the condensed milk was enough without it. The nurse masquerades as a trained nurse, although it is wise to acquiesce in the nursing infant to taking something from the bottle daily from the beginning, usually only water, if breast feeding proves inadequate for the first few months, then even though supplementary bottle feeding becomes necessary the mother should continue, for at least six months, to nurse the baby at least once a day until this condition is such that he may be safely weaned.

The first question to be asked when such additional or supplemental feeding is needed is: what is best to give to the bottle?

Naturally, the best substitute for human milk is that formula which most nearly approaches human milk, and which is of a chemical character. If but one or two bottle feedings daily be required, this does not demand the formidable equipment of apparat which is necessary for the modification of milk after the baby has been weaned. A bottle of food for one supplementary feeding may be prepared after this formula: Pure fresh milk (pasteurized only if there is doubt about the health of the herd or the cleanliness of those handling the milk), 1 1/2 ounces; boiled water, 1 ounce; lactose (sugar of milk), 1/2 teaspoonful.

Milk is pasteurized by warming it up to but not over the temperature of 145 degrees F., holding at that temperature 30 minutes, then cooling again. This destroys any tubercle bacilli or streptococci from the cow, or typhoid bacilli contributed by dirty hands or other disease germs accidentally contaminating the milk before it reaches the consumer.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Almanac stuff.
I eat peppermints a great deal. Are they good for the stomach? I have been told they will dry up the blood. Are peanuts bad for the stomach? (D. H.)
Answer.—Peppermint is a condiment like mustard or horseradish, irritating to the stomach and certainly not good for the stomach. It is a good thing to take of these irritants the better for our health. Peanuts are excellent food, very nutritious and digestible and as good for the stomach as any other wholesome food. The notion that peppermints will dry up the blood is Ben Todd's own imagination. It reminds one of the old quack's senecian warning that "calomel rots the bones."

O. H. H. and H. H. P.
Advice for one with high blood pressure to walk as much as five miles a day? (A. R.)
Answer.—Exercise on the foot is a good medicine to keep the blood pressure right, but it would depend, I think, altogether on what the patient is doing in the other instances. High blood pressure is not a disease. It is a symptom.

Borax in the house.
Borax taken in this form injurious to stomach? Taking it before each meal to reduce the appetite and thus reduce weight? (Miss D. S.)
Answer.—Yes. If you keep on with the treatment you won't be bothered about your weight. Borax is a purgative and lighter day by day, year by year, century by century, despite the grocer's warning that it is a "strong medicine to restrain an appetite is a deplorable abuse."

Removal of the voice.
Removal of the voice? (Mrs. S. J. F.)
Answer.—No. Often improves the voice if the disease of the larynx has impaired it.

Glycerin Not Hair Tonic.
Glycerin used in the hands cause hair to grow? (Mrs. C. F.)
Answer.—No.

"Yes, that's her. I don't see how I can get along without old girl. All ways on these days when I have the most tiring work, she picks out her nicest pieces, like 'Sweet Rest, Bye-and-bye,' 'Mother's Growing Old,' 'Love Will Roll the Clouds Away,' and sings them for me while I'm running the clothes through the water. There is no excuse for poverty, gentlemen. Everyone should rise. Every one may carve out a good position for himself if he wishes.'"

"Perhaps you are right," interrupted a member. "Only today I met a newspaper man who told me that 30 years ago he came to Chicago with exactly $5 in his pocket. He is now worth $100,000, and he owes this entirely to his own ability and energy. Combined with good health and a code of ethics, and to the fact that his uncle recently died and left him $20,995."—Houston Post.

A breathless throng, assumed to be connoisseurs, were listening to the conservatory recital. Perching young artists were doing their best to justify training. There were bond mamma, bored papa, and the usual array of brothers, sisters, aunts and cousins, in whose imaginations loomed distinction for the young artists. One violinist approached his greatest moment, producing a very simple, sympathetic to the last degree, whistled for her companion: "How sorry I feel for him! Let's be nervous!"

JUNIORS "ADOPT" CLUB LIVESTOCK

Three Rock County Juniors Started at Round-up Held Here Saturday.

Rock county's 1923 junior clubs were given a flying start Saturday when there was a round-up of the boys and girls entered in the dairy, sheep and baby-beef clubs, about 50 in number.

The fine dairy calves delivered for distribution under the pool system were "adopted" by their new owners during the afternoon, taken home and a start made to keep Rock County Junior club work. The dairy calves were round-uped by the high school by students of the agricultural class. Assembled in one of the class rooms, the juniors were given advice on how to feed and care for their calves to produce the best results by Earl Cooper, Chicago, of the Holstein extension department, and enthusiastic club worker.

The movies were shown in the school auditorium and among the slides shown was one of the Clark girls at the National dairy show.

There is not a poor calf in the bunch and I know Rock county is going to have another good year of club work," stated Mr. Cooper. The juniors were warned not to over-feed the calves, to protect them and then fit them for showing. All the club members will be sent instruction books either by the state or the cattle associations.

"Get in the clubs, stay in, and above all things, finish the job," urged Cooper.

Following the banquet L. E. Jackson, instructor at the J. H. S. provided for the short program. The feature of this program was when little Edith Clark was lifted to the table to tell of her club work. Not faltering a bit, this 11 year old Miss told of the effort she and her sister, Alice, have made to have good calves. They were on duty on the farm at six o'clock in the morning and took care of them until school time. Each day they trained their calves to stand in the ring and pose.

The importance of keeping up the record books and the methods to be used was explained by L. E. Jackson. Special attention was paid this year to having correct accounts kept.

Rold Murray, secretary of the Wisconsin Livestock Breeders' association, announced that a special set of prizes would be given the best show-boy or girl for the work by the state association. First place will be awarded by all cup, second a lettered calf blanket and third, a fancy halter.

"I do not know of a county that has made the record that Rock county has in junior club work," declared T. L. Bewick, state club leader. "You have the co-operation between the parent, the business man, the newspaper, county agent, Farm Bureau and all other agencies. It shows that none of you have lost heart or faith in agriculture. Such club work is building even a greater future for Rock county. You will have to want to improve, and it looks as though you are going to do it."

"We must keep up the junior club program and make sure that these boys and girls, men and women tomorrow, are better farmers than their parents. We must move forward and it is our duty to make it possible for the boys and girls to learn and improve. They will have to farm better or fail," said J. A. Craig.

"The big thing with the Rock county club committee and everyone of our junior clubs is the boys and girls. We are not concerned about breeds of stock, fairs, cities or sections in this county. This club work is not sectional—it is Rock county wide. Our aim is to put the ideal before the boys and girls and show them the real attractions of farming."

New Club Record
W. J. Dolan, Beloit, dairyman, spoke along the same lines. He is chairman of the Guernsey calf club. "First and foremost I am interested in the boys and girls of the county and in the township district, of which I am a supervisor."

There were nineteen Holstein calves distributed under the allotment system and three Guernsey calves at the fair grounds. Three more juniors will be furnished calves by the associations, the rest having calves furnished by the parents. Most of the juniors have their own notes, without being signed by the parents. Last year every note given for Holstein calves was paid in full.

The new pig club and corn club will be started later. This club round-up will probably be held June 2. It is expected nearly 500 rural boys and girls will be in club work in Rock county this year, a new record.

SALES INCREASING—
Livestock sales are picking up in Rock county and many sales are reported. A carload of grade cows was shipped to New Orleans last week.

Since January 1, 1923, there has been $14,000 worth of grade Holsteins sold through the county association efforts.

There has been around $10,000 worth of Shorthorns sold out of the county in the last six weeks.

Other breeds of cattle have sold equally well. More calls are being received for livestock, especially herd sires, than for some time past.

I am sure that if we could put a man on the road for three weeks we could sell every hoof of surplus stock in Rock county that is worth selling," declared John W. Jones, secretary. "They want cattle, and good cattle."

FEED DEMONSTRATION
AT MADISON THE 28
There will be a beef and swine feeding demonstration at the College of Agriculture, Madison, on Saturday, April 28. The forenoon will largely be given to the subject of beef cattle and beef production and the afternoon to the subject of swine and pork production.

Among the speakers at the demonstration will be, Charles E. Snyder, Chicago, Emil Hirsch, Milwaukee, packer, O. Nesvig, Madison, packer, C. Bolte, Madison, H. Robbins, E. R. McIntire, farm paper editors. High grade two year old Hereford feeders were purchased by the College last November and have been fed out on 1923.

INCOME TAX WON'T BE FREE-FOR-ALL

Secrecy Clause Out, But It's No Help to Curiosity Seekers.

Rules to be followed in connection with allowing any person to peruse the income tax blank by any individual or corporation in Rock county, at the office of the assessor of incomes in the court house here, will be in accordance with a code outlined by the Wisconsin tax commission, a copy of which has been received by F. A. Taylor, assessor of incomes.

Curiosity seekers might as well save their steps to the court house, for they will not be allowed access to the records. Mr. Taylor stated emphatically. Written application must be made to the assessor of incomes office for request to see the filed statement of an individual or corporation. If granted, a time for visiting the office for that purpose will be stated.

But one return can be looked at at any one time, and the assessor or a deputy will be present during the inspection. Hours for inspection will be announced later.

Thus far no requests have been made at Mr. Taylor's office since the governor signed the bill repealing the secrecy clause.

Kiwanians May Have May Fete With Egg Hunt

Again the judgment of those in charge of the second annual egg hunt of the Kiwanis club for Janesville children was vindicated when rain poured in torrents Saturday morning, putting the ground into such a condition as would have completely marred the hunt had it not been postponed two weeks.

The committee, of which W. E. Clinton is chairman, is formulating plans for a celebration Saturday, May 5, when an egg hunt and a May pole dance will be held. Present plans call for a parade from the city hall to the park led by the Bower City and the senior high school bands.

The egg hunt will be held, to be followed by the May pole dance, which probably will be staged under the direction of the Y. W. C. A. On the Kiwanis committee are Mr. Clinton, Harold J. Dane, Leo Atwood, Oscar Nelson, George Stabler, Frank Kennedy and Val. Weber, Sr.

Handicaps worked again to the advantage of the less expert in the rolling in the city bowling tournament Saturday and Sunday when two new firsts were hung up. Three new squads now appear in the five men, two in the doubles and five in the singles.

The 3,000 count in the team event was reached over the week end when the Chicago & Northwestern Roundhouse boys came up from town. The boys, boarded an express and shot through the division for a grand total of 3,037 to take first place. They were compounded with a 651 by Morse, who hit pins for a mark of 651.

Ralph Morse, improved with a start of 195, whizzed into first place in the singles with a tally of 651, his actual bowling 573.

Dabson and Knuth of the Gazette continue to sit tight in first place in the doubles with their 1,203 count. They were not in danger Sunday when the highest mark shot was 145 by Morse, who hit pins for a mark of 651.

LASKER, MARSHALL DRAW IN ELEVENTH

Cleveland—The 11th game between Frank J. Marshall of New York, United States chess champion, and Howard Lasker of Chicago, ended in a draw here Sunday. The game lasted 75 moves and had been twice adjourned. It marked the first play in this Lasker-McCarthy match, Marshall retaining his lead over his challenger of one game.

Busy Man's Sport Page

By FRANK SINCLAIR.

W. E. MOODY, lover of clean sport, has an idea that when worked out will give Janesville wonderful advertising for the huge state pin meet here next year. Mr. Moody, an employee here of the Chevrolet, points out that the auto makers are sending cars away from here in large numbers every day to all parts of the state via the "drive-away" method. Moody believes some advertising stunt may be worked out whereby each of these cars will carry something about the state meet and a welcome to every city to come to Janesville.

THE OTHER day at a basketball game, one of the players was playing so hard at the game that he was not doing very much. He had the spirit, but he lacked the idea. The athlete who advances in the line, who shows his muscles, gets his mind off himself and works smoothly. The man who is thoroughly enjoying himself while he plays is the one who shows up at great advantage.

THIRTY-THREE golf clubs in Wisconsin are shaping up pre-season dogs to get on the links come the season opens. Of these are in southern Wisconsin—Janesville, Beloit, Edgerton, Port Kankakee, Jefferson, Delavan, Lake Geneva, and Madison. In most instances the clubs have waiting lists of people who desire to get into the game. In Janesville there is a growing desire for a municipal links. A number of business men are talking about the chances of laying out a course in the new park—a beautiful site for a remarkable course.

SPRING football practice is being tried by a number of high schools throughout the State. Time was not so long ago that only colleges thought of spring workouts. Prep schools are going after the great fall game in a style that was fitting some of the colleges of a quarter of three decades ago. As a result, the prep schools are now reaping the benefits of the change.

UP IN THE FOX river valley the men of the State Amateur baseball league are organizing an amateur ball league. Teams will be placed in Appleton, De Pere, Kaukaun, Kimberly, Menasha, and Oshkosh. The purpose is to develop material to be used in the larger league. That seems like giving everybody a chance, and is getting down to the real values of sport. Of course, it is a selfish desire in the minds of the state leaguers, but at least they are giving the younger lads a chance to get more of sport, and what is needed, is to get men follows playing the game. If the semi-pros of Janesville are wise they can do the same of the city amateur loop.

THIRTY-THREE golf clubs in Wisconsin are shaping up pre-season dogs to get on the links come the season opens. Of these are in southern Wisconsin—Janesville, Beloit, Edgerton, Port Kankakee, Jefferson, Delavan, Lake Geneva, and Madison. In most instances the clubs have waiting lists of people who desire to get into the game. In Janesville there is a growing desire for a municipal links. A number of business men are talking about the chances of laying out a course in the new park—a beautiful site for a remarkable course.

BRINGING UP FATHER

Invite 500 Prep Schools to State Track Tourney

Madison.—T. E. Jones, director of athletics at the University of Wisconsin, announced Monday that invitations are being sent to approximately 500 Wisconsin high schools to participate in the 1923 annual state interscholastic meet here on May 26. It is expected that last year's record of 65 schools entered for field and track will be exceeded. There will be two classes for all events. Class A, being for high schools with an enrollment of 300 or more, and Class B for smaller high schools so that each team will meet contestants of its own class.

Interest in track and field athletics, according to Director Jones, has been growing rapidly within the last few years until this spring high schools in nearly a dozen Wisconsin counties have arranged for county meets. In addition, sectional contests are to be held in other places in preparation for the big state meet.

The athletic department here is urging the athletic instructors of all high schools to arrange for dual meets early in the spring, followed by county meets and, if possible, sectional contests under the auspices of the various normal schools, which would make possible determination of county, district or sectional, as well as state championships.

35 Answer Call for Black Cat Team Recruits

Thirty-five candidates for the Black Cat team of the Southern Wisconsin baseball league were on the diamond at "The Pines" Sunday afternoon to try out with the squad. If that isn't interest, baseball fans around here parts don't know where to look for it.

City Horse Shoe Tourney Planned Here for May 30

"Horse shoe" pitching was revived by the Knights of Columbus of Janesville Sunday and will be boosted to the limit this spring and summer. M. T. Denning, Sr., stated Monday that the Knights of Columbus planned for May 30, followed by a city tournament on May 31.

Michigan Beats Ohio in Opener

Ann Arbor, Mich.—Michigan opened its western conference baseball season on here with a victory over Ohio State, 3 to 2. Rain fell at intervals and made fielding uncertain. Liverance held the Buckeyes to one hit in the infield variety. Harry Kipke scored the winning run in the sixth inning when he doubled and tallied on Schaeckel's single down the third base line.

BOOTLEG BOXING AT CHI, MONDAY

Chicago.—"Bootleg boxing" so called because of the Illinois law forbidding the sport, Monday night will bring to Chicago another world champion, the second time within recent weeks. Until Joe Lynch, the bantamweight king, appeared here sometime ago, Chicago has had to obtain its views of world's champions in action by "boxing" to some other state where boxing is permitted. Johnny Wilson, middleweight title holder of the world, in his first appearance here, staging a comeback after a year's "setdown," will meet Italian Joe Gans in ten rounds at catchweights. The same card will see another titleholder here for the second time, Frankie Genaro, American flyweight champion, who meets Pat Moore, the Memphis boxer, in ten rounds under the same weight conditions.

Genova.—The loan in Austria of $120,000,000 was approved by the League of Nations in accordance with the league's plan to put that country on a firm financial footing.

CHINESE STUDENT TELLS OF SPORT IN OWN COUNTRY

By T. L. SIEN.

Student, Beloit College.

My old school at Peking takes an annual vote on a number of superlatives, like "who is the most handsome," "who is the biggest bookworm." The answer to the most favored activity has been invariably athletics. Truly, the "Tinghuang" yearbook, a yearly publication, says, "We have now entirely passed out of the period of compulsion. If the gymnasium and the swimming pool remain locked after the scheduled time of opening, an army of boisterous young fellows will not hesitate to bombard the doors."

Every one takes part in some kind of games, and even the "biggest bookworm" would not feel his day's work complete without some vigorous exercise. There is no question about the popularity of athletics among the rising generation of China.

Track Most Popular.

By virtue of the number of participants and also by virtue of the keenest of competition, track meets attract the greatest attention among athletic events. Preliminary class meets select representatives for the home events, the point of which is to represent the school in the city contest. Then comes the section meet. The whole of China is divided into three sections, northern, middle and southern. Each section holds an annual meet at places varying each year. Then we have the national meet, and finally the Far East Olympic meet, which takes place every three years and of which China, Japan, Siam and the Philippines are members.

Other Sports Popular.

China has held her championships in both soccer football and basketball in the Far East for years. Football among the six universities in Middle China commands unusual interest, and the foreign residents. The winning team is used to parade through the whole city in cars which are decorated with sign and banners. The marching band, the names of the squad members are inscribed on plaques and celebration meetings are held by the alumni in various localities. Basketball is more popular in schools of Northern China. The rival team is welcomed with fire crackers and a band amidst loud clamor. The field is often besieged by spectators. It is not unusual for boy scouts becomes indispensable. On the day of the finals, classes are sometimes suspended, and a special train provided by the school. Any one who can afford to "per" the car cannot escape the capture of popular opinion.

Beloit College May Send Team East Next Year

Beloit.—If a movement now on foot here succeeds, the crack Beloit college basketball team will make a tour through the east next season. Winners of the state college title, the Little Eight championship and the laurels of the mid-western conference, the Gold squad will be intact next year except for the loss of Walter Winkler, captain in 1922 and running guard in 1923.

Coach "Tommy" Mills has given his approval. Students are anxious for it. The alumni of the school is getting livelier to the opportunity for spreading the fame of the college.
